Application of these skills has lagged behind in the home, despite the fact that they are based on common sense and on sound theory. The widespread attention being given by business and industry to management training and development led us to the writing of Running a Happy Family. In the business world, millions of dollars are being spent to teach everyone from foreman to president how to be a more effective manager or supervisor. Some concerns have worked out extensive programs of their own; others send their men to colleges or professional schools, or call in management-consulting firms.
